HALIFAX HORROR IS Laid AT DOOR OF TWO MEN WHO ARE UNDER ARREST

HELSMAN OF THE IMO AND GERMAN SUSPECT ON BOARD RELIEF SHIP ARE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

CAPTAIN MAKES STATEMENT

TESTIFIES THAT VESSEL WHICH RAN DOWN HIS CRAFT ACTED PECULIARLY AND SUSPICIOUSLY IN MAMOR.

(International News Service.)
Halifax, Dec. 14.—Two men are under arrest here today pending official investigation of the explosion of the munition ship Mont Blanc which cost nearly 1,300 lives and rendered 25,000 persons homeless. One of the men is John Johansen, helmsman on the Norwegian steamship Ima, which rammed the Mont Blanc. He is detained as a German spy. Henry French, another German suspect, was arrested on his arrival here from Boston on an American relief ship. Officials say his correct name is Louis Vosburg. In his pocket were found railway tickets, maps of Halifax and papers declared to be important. Official investigation of the disaster was continued today.

Among the first witnesses were Pilot McKay and Captain Lamedec, of the Mont Blanc, and Alexander Johansen, steward of the Ima. The relief ship Northland, the second vessel sent from Boston with supplies for the destitute here, arrived today. Captain Lamedec testified that the Mont Blanc was loaded at New York with a cargo of T. N. T., gun cotton and dry pyric acid and a deck load of benzol for the French government. He described the distribution of the explosives in the holds, and said all necessary precautions were taken. He said the ship came to Halifax to receive orders where to join her convoy. He received his orders from the British pilot, McKay, the evening of Dec. 5.

The morning of the collision was clear, the captain continued. While proceeding up to Bedford basin his ship sighted the Ima at 8:30 a. m. He was then 120 feet from the Dartmouth shore. The Ima was heading to sea on the west side, but was taking a direction across his course, so that her starboard side was visible. He gave one short blast to indicate he was going to the right. The Ima replied by two short blasts.

Imo Going Fast.
He was going to starboard and the Ima to port. He noticed later that the Ima came a little more to the left. In the meantime he had stopped his engines. The Ima gave two short blasts when the ships were about 150 feet apart. The Ima seemed to have great speed.

The captain said he turned his ship to the left and gave two short blasts. The ships then had each other on the right side, and were 50 feet apart.

Asked if the vessel would not have passed at 50 feet if no other change was made, the witness said this was so, as the Ima was traveling obliquely up the harbor. The Ima signalled she was "going astern at full speed."

Captain Lamedec said he saw the Ima's propeller was going astern, but she kept ahead. He then signalled his engines astern and put the helm to starboard so that the Ima would not strike the hold where the pyric acid was. He was not successful. The impact of the vessels was terrific. The black smoke poured from the hold. He thought the ship was to be blown up at once. It was impossible to put out the fire. In order not to uselessly sacrifice lives, he ordered the crew to abandon the ship. Perfect order was maintained. He gave the order to get away and make for the east shore. He called the roll on landing and found only one man missing. Eighteen to 20 minutes elapsed before the explosion.

Half Mile Away.
Asked if he understood what the Ima's two blasts meant, Captain Lamedec said he thought she was signalling wrongly, but as he had signalled his course first, he had no right to change it except in case of collision. He declared the Ima was half a mile away when he first saw

NONE TOO OLD TO SERVE FRANCE

That service to one's country recognizes no age limit is evident from this photograph showing Frenchmen too old to fight constructing trenches and dugouts behind the battle lines. Each man, a volunteer, has released a younger man for duty at the front. Many of these men served France in 1870.

(Special to The Daily.)
Hartselle, Ala., Dec. 14.—Will Kent, well known here, and a brother of City Commissioner I. J. Kent, was seriously wounded in a street affray yesterday afternoon by T. J. Love. The men are said to have had a disagreement regarding a watch. American Engineers Killed by Bombs

(International News Service.)
With the American Army in France, Dec. 14.—Officials at the American field headquarters today were trying hard to get a list of the American engineers killed when German aviators bombed a town through which they were passing, behind the lines, a few days ago. The only information received here stated that "several" Americans were killed.

Draper Appeals for Volunteer Workers

Jas. L. Draper, secretary of the county exemption board, today appealed to the Red Cross of Albany and Decatur to furnish voluntary workers to assist in preparing the classification lists for drafted men. Two girls each day are required for the next twenty days. The war department insists that the exemption board call for these volunteers, and in order that some system may be observed and to insure dependability, Mr. Draper has put the matter up to the Red Cross.

SINGING FEATURES RED CROSS DRIVE

SOLOS DURING WEEK AT DELITE THEATRE. CHRISTMAS CAROLS BY THE CHILDREN.

DELITE THEATRE SINGERS FOR RED CROSS WEEK.
Monday—Miss Mary Penick.
Tuesday—Herman Troup.
Wednesday—Mrs. F. G. Cook.
Thursday—Mrs. A. A. Hardage.
Friday—Miss Marie Kimbrough.
Saturday—Mrs. B. B. Pickens.

These singers' consent to sing during Red Cross week represents part of Miss Florence Bassett's effort as director of the music for the big membership drive to date, but not the half or the tenth part of what this super-enthusiastic leader is going to do. First, Miss Bassett will furnish the Daily a copy of "Holy Night," which is the official Christmas carol to be used, and it is her direction that every reader of the paper cut out the words, learn them, or else have them handy to sing at the theatres, on the streets or anywhere else the children leaders shall start singing the carol. Miss Bassett has taken the scripture text to make it come true in Albany this Christmas—"A little child shall lead them."

To make sure the children lead the carol intelligently and sing with the spirit and the understanding, Miss Bassett will make an automobile tour of all the schools Monday morning, and will in a short speech to the children explain the meaning and significance of the "Holy Night" and the carol commemorating it, and will tell of how the wise men and shepherds by night heard the songs of the angels. In each speech she will explain the use to which the Red Cross flag is to be put on Christmas night, and she will explain that the child singers will be required to sing "Holy Night" under every window where the flag is found. It is Miss Bassett's purpose to visit Flint, Austinville, Cedar Lake, Crowton, Somerville and other communities over which the Albany Red Cross has jurisdiction during the campaign.

"We purpose to make our singing a community affair, a thing I have been working toward for years," said Miss Bassett. "We want to make everyone alive to this Red Cross movement. Everyone at the Delite and Masonic theatres throughout the coming week is expected to hold the children sing 'Holy Night.'"

Other plans developing today stated briefly are these for the "Four Minute Men," under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Donnell. The advertising schemes by Mrs. H. T. Gill, aided by the Boy Scouts; plans for reaching the outlying communities, by Mrs. W. E. Todd, chairman of the committee of ten; plans by Rev. F. L. Goodwin, chairman of the Albany chapter, for the big meeting to be held at the Delite theatre Sunday afternoon. The change from the Masonic to the Delite, Manager Thompson said, was in order to save coal, gas being used for hearing purposes at the Delite.

A special feature of the Sunday Delite meeting will be an up-to-the-minute war poem recital by Miss Marie Kimbrough, entitled "The Hell Gate at Soissons," in which this delightful reader will tell how twelve British soldiers held back a whole German division at Soissons in one of the many battles for that city.

The Key to Success.
"One person responsible for one thing," said Manager Thompson "is the key to the success of the campaign so far. I do not believe that the people of Albany were ever more stirred or ever worked with greater unity. I have not received one refusal from the scores that have been asked to work. It begins to look as if Major Bassett's goal of 3,500 members is about right."

Carnegie Library Closed at Night to Conserve Fuel

In order that it may do its "bit" toward the conservation of fuel, Carnegie Library will be closed at night during the winter months, it was announced today by Miss Leathem, librarian. The new order of things is effective at once. Heretofore the library has been open two nights in each week.

CIVIL WAR SPREADS THROUGHOUT RUSSIA; REPORTS CONFLICTING

Indications Are That Decisive Battle is Yet to be Fought

THE GERMANS ARE BUSY ADVERTISING

British Officials Puzzled by Widespread Reports of Gigantic Western Offensive

Civil war has spread to practically every part of the Russian empire. Troops supporting the Bolsheviks are being engaged by Cossacks at many places. Reliable reports cannot be obtained as to the result of the fighting. Bolshevik leaders are putting out a veritable flood of dispatches claiming to have defeated the Cossacks. Only a few reports have come from the Cossack leaders and they all declare that the Bolshevik forces are being crushed. Germany's proposed gigantic drive on the western front continues to be surrounded with mystery. Both Paris and London report only minor activities last night.

(International News Service.)
Amsterdam, Dec. 14.—Flat denial of Foreign Minister Balfour's recent declaration that a neutral government had sounded England or Germany on the possibilities of peace, was made in a German official statement received here today. "Great Britain, and not Germany, was responsible for the peace feelers," the statement said.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Dec. 14.—Artillery preparation for a stupendous attack is being carried out against the Italian positions from the Brenta to the Piave river, according to dispatches this afternoon.

(International News Service.)
London, Dec. 14.—A warning that Germany is now prepared for her supreme military effort on the western front and that Great Britain must prepare to meet the 500,000 fresh troops, was sounded today by Col. Repington, military expert of the Times. Russia's disintegration, Col. Repington pointed out, was responsible for the present situation.

(International News Service.)
Rome, Dec. 14.—Unshaken faith in the ability of the Italians to hold the Austro-German forces in check in their great drive along the Piave was voiced here today by Premier Orlando in a frank discussion of the military situation. He declared that Italy's financial and economic condition was excellent.

GERMANY IS ADVERTISING THE ALLEGED BIG DRIVE.

(International News Service.)
London, Dec. 15.—Germany continues to advertise widely her proposed gigantic drive on the allies on the western front. Dispatches reaching here today from Amsterdam continue to report great movements of German troops behind the lines on the western front. German government controlled newspapers herald the advance and go into great details concerning it. The change in Germany's procedure has mystified British officials, as Germany in the past has kept her plans for military moves a complete secret. Officials said today that they believed the papers were advertising a scheme that was not contemplated and that a stroke would be made in some other sector.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY IN RUSSIA.

(International News Service.)
Copenhagen, Dec. 14.—Whether the Bolshevik forces or those controlled by Gens. Korniloff and Kaledins were victorious in the recent battle was still in doubt today. Reports from Petrograd today indicated that neither faction has gained the upper hand and that a decisive battle is imminent. Both sides claim victory in the most recent fighting. The scheme for holding a constituent assembly has collapsed and the nation today faces a protracted civil war.

THOROUGH PROBE OF NAVAL AFFAIRS TO BEGIN; OLIVER OF ALABAMA, AT HEAD

HOUSE COMMITTEE NAMES SUBCOMMITTEE AND EMPOWERS IT TO SUMMON ALL HIGH OFFICIALS.

WON'T SHIELD INCOMPETENTS

CONGRESS DETERMINED THAT THE UNFIT MUST GO. FUTURE INQUIRIES BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, IS ANNOUNCED.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Dec. 14.—One more war investigation got started this afternoon when the house naval affairs committee appointed a subcommittee to inquire into the whole conduct of the war by the navy department. This subcommittee will go to work at once, summoning Secretary Daniels, all of the principal admirals and bureau chiefs, and subjecting them to a vigorous examination.

The members of the subcommittee are Representative Oliver, chairman, the author of the resolution; Representatives Venable, Hensley, Britten, Hicks and Peters.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Dec. 14.—Incompetent officials must be removed from office. This was the slogan at the capital today. Senators and representatives united in the declaration, regardless of party or affiliation. There was a general disposition expressed on the part of the leaders of the investigation to make the probe now in progress most thorough. There was no disposition to be either unduly critical or to play politics. The senate military affairs committee investigating the military situation decided today to conduct the investigation behind closed doors, because Gen. Crozier fears that too much information of military value may escape to the Kaiser if the proceedings are thrown open to the public.

H. D. HARRKREIDER Editor

HARTSELLE MIGHT AID IN BUILDING NEW PARSONAGE ON PRESENT SITE.

An editorial recently appearing in the Daily in regard to the removal of the Methodist parsonage to Hartselle, has brought the following reply from the Hartselle Enterprise:

The use of the word "kidnaped" in the above article, with reference to a house, seems to us rather ambiguous. According to Mr. Webster this word is compounded of two other words:—Kid, a child plus nap, to seize. That is, to seize a child. And we can't see why the district parsonage should be compared to a child unless it is on account of its present frail condition. There is, however, another sense in which the word could be used and that is this: Kid, a box or pen for fish plus nap (verb), to be in a careless state. That is, a box or pen in a careless state. In which ever sense the word is used it must have been intended simply as a caricature of the district parsonage in its present condition. But even as badly out of repair as it is we should not feel like joining The Daily in comparing it to a child or a box.

Again, this word seems to imply the doing of something in a secretive fashion, when the very reason for publishing "In Methodist circles" was that the people might know that such a move was contemplated.

Just why such a change should be contemplated is hard to fathom. There is no mystery about that. As to the removal of the house, there will have to be a new one in the near future, and the people of Hartselle would be glad to build it just to have the presiding elder live among them. As to the change of name, we understand that it is customary in Methodist usage to give the district the name of the town or city in which the parsonage is located. So, if Hartselle should build the new district parsonage within her borders, it would only be conforming to custom to give the district her name. Then it seems to be the fact these days to change names without any apparent end in view.

"Would the cordial relations that now exist among Methodists in the district be improved by the change?" From the progress and prosperity that seems to prevail in the church here we would venture to think that they don't need to be "improved." And if any rivalry should arise in the matter we believe it would be only that friendly rivalry that we have always observed among Methodists, as to who can best serve and best agree.

It is quite evident from the tenor of this article that the Enterprise does not take kindly to the facetious expression. It is equally as apparent that the Enterprise has stocked up its library with Webster's Unabridged, at least. To take liberties with a dictionary is a perfectly harmless way of deriding an issue.

But to get down to brass tacks, the Daily would like to ask the Enterprise who commissioned it to publish the fact that the removal of the parsonage was brewing "so that the people might know such a change was contemplated." And if Hartselle and the Enterprise are so deeply concerned in regard to the use of a new parsonage, why hasn't some effort been made there to raise funds for the replacing of the present structure with a handsomer one. The entire Decatur district should be interested as should every Methodist in the district. A sudden zeal for a new parsonage at Hartselle must be inspired by that same brand of "friendly rivalry" that exists between a married man and the fellow who has a covetous eye upon the former's spouse.

The senate military affairs committee has brought to light evidence to the effect that the American army had but 350 machine guns at the beginning of the war and that it had only the same 350 two months later. It was also established by General Crozier that with the declaration of war upon the Huns the daily output of rifles was reduced from ten thousand to five thousand. It is about time to lift the censorship and find out why and how this came to pass and who is responsible.

The Hartselle Enterprise has advanced its subscription price from $1.00 to $1.50 per year. This is a move in the right direction, as the high cost of paper and materials has made it impossible for the publisher to continue his role of philanthropist.

Some of the federal conservators might inform us what has caused the sugar famine and the coal famine. There may not be so much sugar cane in the fields as formerly, but there certainly is an abundance of coal in the mines.

Even the pacifists have no reason for not joining the Red Cross, as its work is entirely humanitarian. They claim to be strong for humanity.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The food administration was charged with direct responsibility for the sugar scarcity today by Claud A. Spreckles, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, on the witness stand before the senate manufacturers' sub-committee in the sugar shortage investigation. Mr. Spreckles insisted the sugar supply as a whole was larger than ever and the shortage existed only in spots. He laid the entire blame to the food administration's agreement with the sugar trust, which he declared was in control of ninety per cent of the sugar in the United States.

Age-Herald Receives Tobacco Fund Check

(Age-Herald.)

W. R. Shelton, manager of the Albany-Decatur Daily, has sent to The Age-Herald a check for $45.75, which is the amount this newspaper has raised for its tobacco fund for the boys of Company E, 167th Infantry.

Company E is from Albany and is now with the Rainbow Division in France.

This amount will not be placed with The Age-Herald tobacco fund, as it is for a specified unit of the service, whereas the money from the Age-Herald fund is distributed by the Red Cross among the soldier boys where the distributors feel that it is most needed.

However, the contributors to the Albany-Decatur fund felt that they wanted to send this remembrance to their own boys in France and The Age-Herald will make the necessary arrangements to have the maximum amount of smoking material which can be purchased for this sum reach the boys from Albany.

her, that there was a perceptible interval between the blowing of the whistles, and that the collision took place immediately after the time signalled she was going astern. The ship's full speed at the time was 7 1/2 knots.

Captain Lemedac admitted this was the first time he ever had been in Halifax harbor.

Cross-examined by counsel for the owners of the Imo, the witness said the Mont Blanc was not carrying a red flag or anything to indicate that she had explosives aboard. He claimed navigation rules did not call for a red flag, except when loading or unloading munitions. He was not aware that all munition ships sailed with a red flag in peace times. He was the last man, he asserted, to leave the ship.

Few Women of Today Work Blindly

Used to be that daughters adhered strictly to mothers' methods of home management. They used certain baking recipes simply because they were favorites of former generations.

Times have changed radically. Colleges and clubs have been established for the express purpose of determining just which baking method and baking materials are best.

Many domestic scientists devote their lives to research and experimental work. They are constantly testing food products. They conduct exhaustive comparative tests. They accept and endorse only such methods and baking processes as have been found superior through scientific measurement of merit. These decisions are given wide publicity. The result is that the housewife today produces more wholesome and perfect bakings at less cost than ever before.

I have conducted many experiments and have investigated experiments conducted by scores of other domestic scientists. My own work and the decisions handed down by other pure food specialists and domestic scientists—bring out the evidence that the overwhelming majority employ and advocate the use of one special brand of baking powder—which proves once more the old saying that "there is only one best."

I know that this baking powder has won its popularity among experts on merit alone. Because I know that they show no partiality. To obtain their approval a product must possess superiority. And that superiority must cover every phase of baking powder quality of material and action. It must be absolutely sure in results—never fail. It must be perfectly pure—leave no harmful residue in the foods. It must produce the best grade of bakings—cakes, biscuits, etc. that are light, tender and tasty. Finally—it must be a baking powder that is economical in both cost and use.

Calumet Baking Powder is the one baking powder that has won the verdict of superiority and the hearty endorsement of expert domestic scientists—who like myself have proved Calumet's super-excellence beyond dispute. This superiority "sanctioned" as it is by eminent domestic science authorities certainly clearly indicates that Calumet gives the housewife the greatest of Baking Powder value.
